Founding Contractor Pilot Program

Help Us Build TCP With Contractors, Not Just For Them

We're inviting a small group of contractors to be among the first to use The Contractor Platform (TCP) in their businesses.

The program is limited to 20 Founding Contractors.

Help Shape the Platform

Tell us what's working, what's not, and what would make TCP more valuable to your business.

What We Ask

Nothing complicated.

Use TCP. Tell us what you think. Help us make it better.

Use TCP in your business whenever practical, report issues when you find them, and share honest feedback about your experience.

We may occasionally send a short survey or ask if you're willing to talk through your experience. We know you're running a business, so we're intentionally keeping the commitment light.

How the Founding Contractor Pilot Works

The Founding Contractor Pilot Program is the initial period where we work closely with our first contractors to improve TCP using real-world experience.

The pilot is initially planned around a three-month period. TCP may reach General Availability (GA) before the pilot ends, or we may extend the pilot if we believe additional time would be valuable.

Neither changes the commitment we've made to Founding Contractors.

Your Pilot Pricing Is Protected

The current standard price of TCP Core is $399/month.

After your 14-day free trial, you'll receive $250 off the standard monthly Core price.

That discount continues for:

At least your first three paid months, or until the Founding Contractor Pilot Program ends—whichever is longer.

If TCP reaches General Availability before your three months are complete, your discount continues.

If the pilot lasts longer than three months, your discount continues until the pilot concludes.

Once both have ended, you'll transition to your ongoing 25% Founding Contractor discount.

You'll Always Be a Founding Contractor

The pilot is temporary.

Your Founding Contractor designation isn't.

It recognizes that your organization was one of the first to trust TCP and helped shape the platform before its broader release.

As TCP grows, Founding Contractors may receive early access to new features, opportunities to preview upcoming functionality, invitations to product discussions, and recognition within the TCP community.

Specific benefits may evolve, but your Founding Contractor designation remains with your organization.

What TCP Commits To

We're asking you to invest some of your time and trust in TCP. We intend to do the same for you.

During the program, we'll:

- Provide direct founder and email support.
- Regularly improve TCP based on what we're learning and what we have planned.
- Take bugs and usability issues seriously.
- Listen to your feedback and use it to help prioritize development.
- Keep you informed about meaningful platform improvements.

We can't promise we'll build every feature request, but we can promise we'll listen.

What to Expect During the Pilot

TCP is actively evolving.

That means you'll see new features, workflow improvements, interface changes, and fixes throughout the pilot. You may also encounter occasional bugs or temporary service interruptions.

TCP may become generally available to other contractors while the Founding Contractor Pilot Program is still underway. If that happens, your participation and Pilot Program pricing continue under the terms described above.

Your Feedback

There are several easy ways to tell us what you think:

- Use the Send Feedback (recommended) button inside TCP.
- Complete an occasional short feedback survey.
- Email us.
- Talk directly with the TCP team.

Feedback, ideas, and feature suggestions you provide may be used to improve TCP without additional compensation or attribution.

Your Data

Your business data remains yours.

Your organization retains ownership of the business information it creates and manages within TCP.

Our Privacy Policy and Terms of Service explain in more detail how TCP handles, protects, and processes information.

Participation

Participation in the Founding Contractor Pilot Program is voluntary.

You may leave the program at any time.

Because we're intentionally limiting the program to 20 Founding Contractors, TCP may conclude participation for an organization that becomes inactive, misuses the platform, or is no longer participating meaningfully in the pilot.

An available position may then be offered to another contractor.

After the Pilot

The end of the pilot doesn't mean starting over.

Your organization simply continues using TCP Core.

Once both your guaranteed three-month Pilot Program pricing period and the Founding Contractor Pilot Program have concluded, your subscription transitions to your ongoing:

25% Founding Contractor Discount

Your discount continues for as long as you remain an active TCP customer.

TCP's standard Core price may change over time. Your Founding Contractor discount will be applied to the standard Core subscription price then in effect.

Founding Contractor Agreement

By accepting an invitation and participating in the TCP Founding Contractor Pilot Program, you acknowledge that:

- TCP is actively evolving and features may change.
- Occasional bugs or service interruptions may occur.
- The pilot may end before or after TCP reaches General Availability.
- Feedback you provide may be used to improve TCP.
- Participation is voluntary.
- Pilot and Founding Contractor pricing are governed by the terms described on this page.
- Your use of TCP is also subject to TCP's Terms of Service, Privacy Policy, and Automation & AI Disclosure.

Interested in Becoming a Founding Contractor?

We're limiting the program to 20 contractors so we can work closely with each organization.

If you're interested in helping shape TCP while putting the platform to work in your business, apply for Founding Contractor access.

Not every applicant will be selected, and the program will close once all Founding Contractor positions are filled.

Thank You

TCP is being built for serious contractors, and we believe contractors should have a voice in building it.

To every Founding Contractor willing to trust us early, share honest feedback, and help make TCP better:

Thank you for building it with us.
